Our goal is the same as yours—taking the best care of the community you serve. We are dedicated to strengthening our partnership with Tribal and Urban Indian Health Centers by focusing exclusively on advancing technology that enhances the provider-patient relationship and meets the unique needs of your communities. In a rapidly changing healthcare landscape, our commitment remains steadfast: we invest our resources and development efforts into innovative solutions that directly support the core health needs of Health Centers, ensuring you stay at the forefront of patient care without distractions from unrelated healthcare sectors.

Person-Centered Healthcare

Human connection, through technology

We leverage technology to allow providers to focus on their patients by:

- Reducing the burden of care delivery
- Inclusive access to care
- Building wellness in underserved communities
- Breaking the barriers of healthcare inequity

Healthcare, at its core, is human care. Greenway is passionate about harnessing the power of technology to fuel human interactions in healthcare.

Our patient-first and person-centric design methodology ensures that providers get back to the business of patient care and are less burdened by the distraction of technology. Your patients can take advantage of a growing number of self-service and virtual healthcare interactions that ensure more inclusivity and access. We have a long history of partnerships with Tribal and Urban Indian organizations because we understand that the need for technology to support better care outcomes is historically greater in underserved communities.

Our focus on building bridges to healthcare equity doesn't stop here. We have the foundation today to continue discovering ways to drive the analysis and predictions and help overcome social determinants of health (SDOH) for a better tomorrow.

Advanced Technology

Moving from treating illness to growing wellness

We are creating a purposeful disruption in health information technology (HIT) to change the healthcare narrative:

- Transforming the patient check-in experience
- Evidence-backed clinical decision support at the point of care
- Harnessing machine learning to drive better care outcomes and reduce the burden
- Driving health trend analysis from rich data sources, positively impacting Social Determinants of Health

Healthcare has long been a business of treating mass illness—focused on acute scenarios at a point in time. That narrative is shifting, and together we can work to move from treating sickness to growing wellness. Advancements in healthcare technology create a purposeful disruption to get us there.

Reimagining the patient's check-in to provide greater access to care. Tapping into the power of the tech tools in your patients' hands to create an ongoing conversation with healthcare providers.

Providing data-driven clinical guidance, supporting speed to diagnosis, creating more efficiency in the workflow, and allowing for greater connection with the patient.

We can further enhance the experience with advanced technologies that optimize workflows, predict care outcomes, and alleviate the workload on providers. We analyze data trends from both within and beyond the EHR, gaining valuable insights into our communities to better understand and enhance the well-being of the people we serve.
