Restoring humanity to medicine through intelligent automation

Most practices don't lack technology—they lack intelligent technology that works for them. Novare™ by Greenway Health® transforms fragmented EHR systems into an AI-enabled, unified platform that anticipates clinician needs and automates administrative burdens across the entire care journey.

Built on modern cloud architecture, powered by AWS, Novare brings clinical and financial workflows onto a single platform where AI agents work behind the scenes—from pre-visit preparation through final payment.

The result? Clinicians reclaim time for patient connection, revenue teams stop chasing denials, and your practice operates with the efficiency it deserves.

Eliminate Documentation Burden

Ambient scribe technology and AI-powered patient summaries transform pre-visit preparation and in-room documentation. Clinicians spend less time clicking through charts and more time connecting with patients, reducing after-hours documentation, and combating burnout.

Accelerate Revenue Capture

Intelligent coding suggestions, automated prior authorizations, and real-time benefit checks identify revenue opportunities at the point of care. Capture every dollar you've earned without adding steps to your workflow.

Restore Focus to Patient Care

AI handles routine administrative tasks in the background, from insurance verification to chart preparation. Your clinical and revenue cycle teams work smarter, not harder, with technology that anticipates needs and removes barriers to efficient care delivery.
